Verse

1. Chuck was an odd, odd duck. In - stead of quack - ing, he could on - ly cluck, cluck, cluck. That

Chorus

"Al - la - ke - zee! Ke - zu - ke - zue! With an E, I'll turn this dud in - to a real cool dude." Mag - ic E waved his wand, and with a flick of his wrist— Poof!— Chuck got a mag - i - cal gift.

Verse 2

Now Chuck the Duck could quack.
He was proud to make this sound.
But he still felt a lack.
He had a dull, gray hue.
His feathers were so plain.
But Magic E knew what to do.

Chorus

"Al-la-ke-zee! Ke-zu-ke-zue!
With an E, I'll turn this plum
into a feathery plume."
Magic E waved his wand,
and with a flick of his wrist—
POOF!—
Chuck got a magical gift.

Verse 3

Chuck's new look was hip and cool.
With feathers bright as stars,
he strutted around the pool.
Quacking Chuck began to strum
a tune on his ukulele.
He sang, "Let's have some fun."

Chorus

"Al-la-ke-zee! Ke-zu-ke-zue!
With an E, I'll turn this tub
into a slippery tube."
Magic E waved his wand,
and with a flick of his wrist—
POOF!—
Chuck got a magical gift.

Verse 4

Chuck slid down the slippery tube,
flapping and laughing
with a new attitude.
When Chuck was through,
he wanted to give
Magic E a big "thank you."

Chorus

"Al-la-ke-zee! Ke-zu-ke-zue!
With an E, this hug
will become huge."
Magic E waved his wand,
and with a flick of his wrist—
POOF!—
Chuck got a magical gift.
