

The Goose and the Golden Eggs

Jazz
Joseph Faison IV

Verse

1. A won-der-ful goose a man did raise. He did, he did. She laid one egg of gold each day. Oh, she did lay.

Chorus

If you have a lot, don't be greed-y too. But he want-ed more eggs, more! One just would-n't do.

Interlude

Verse 2
The man, he took those eggs to sell.
He did, he did.
So many coins his pocket held.
Oh, so many.

Verse 3
"That goose must have more eggs inside," he thought, he thought.
"I could have them now," he cried,
"and I'll wait no more."

Verse 4
He butchered the goose but found no eggs,
no gold, no gold.
No more would that dead goose lay,
all his riches gone.
