

Wind and Water Shape the Land

Americana
Erik Koskinen

Chorus G

Blow - ing wind and flow - ing wa - ter wear down rock and car - ry sand.

Two of Earth's most pow - er - ful forc - es, wind and wa - ter shape the land.

Verse

1. With one wave, two, a mil - lion more the o - cean wa - ter pounds the shore.

Crash-ing waves and sprays of mist chip a - way at tow-er-ing cliffs.

Chorus

Verse 2

A river runs day after day,
flowing over rocks and clay.
The riverbed widens. It grows deep and forms a canyon oh-so-steep.

Chorus

Verse 3

The wind whips on the rocky plains,
picking up clouds of sandy grains.
That coarse wind blows. It scours and scrapes, carving rocks into artful shapes.

Bridge

Lis - ten to the storm waves crash. Hear the wild blue riv - er run. Lis - ten to the harsh wind blow. These are the sounds of e - ro - sion.
