

Rectangles and Triangles

Kindie
Emily Arrow

Verse

1. First, you will need a cas-tle, so draw a big rec-tan-gle. Then, add one more on each side, tall tow-ers to touch the sky. Draw half-cir-cles for win-dows and a stur-dy gate to close. A-long the top, draw small squares. They will add a lit-tle flair.

Chorus

Rec-tan-gles have four sides. Tri-an-gles have three. Use these two shapes to draw your ver-y own sto-ry! Rec-tan-gles have four sides. Tri-an-gles have three.
Prin-cess-es, knights, and drag-gons – Let's draw them. It's eas-y!

Verse 2
A princess lives in the castle.
So start with a triangle.
A half-circle forms her face and shows off all of her grace.
Then draw a triangle dress.
She will look her very best.
Lastly, add the small details:
hair, mouth, eyes, and a long veil.

Chorus

Verse 3
Now you will need a brave knight.
Draw two rectangles the same size.
Add a circle for his face.
Then draw one raised arm and legs.
Our knight will need a weapon
to battle the mean dragon.
To his helm, add a visor.
Then decorate his armor.

Chorus

Verse 4
The story needs a dragon.
A triangle starts the fun.
Draw two more for wings to soar
and two for a mouth to roar.
Then add a long, curvy tail
and arms and legs full of scales.
Small triangles form the spikes down its back. Oh, what a fright!

Chorus
