

Thumbelina

Americana
Erik Koskinen

Chorus

Thumb-el - i - na, Thumb-el - i - na, e - ven though you're small, you can stand up, stand up tall!

Verse

1. A hus-band and a wife shared a won-der - ful home. But they had no chil-dren to call their own.

Verse 2
"Our child will be loved,"
said the hopeful dad and mom,
"even if it's as tiny as a thumb!"

Chorus

Verse 3
Thumbelina was born
in a lovely flower.
Her father and mother
loved her more each hour.

Verse 4
An evil toad spied her
one day as she played.
So he grabbed Thumbelina,
and he stole her away!

Chorus

Verse 5
The toad kept the girl
on a lonely lily pad.
Some fish saw her crying
and knew that she was sad.

Verse 6
The fish helped her escape, chewing the pad with their teeth.
Thumbelina floated away,
far down the stream.

Verse 7
For many years,
Thumbelina lived alone.
She made many friends
as she searched for a home.

Verse 8

8. She helped a blue-bird, who flew her through the skies. Then, in a gar-den, she met a man: a ti-ny prince just her size!

Chorus

Thumb-el - i - na, Thumb-el - i - na, e - ven though you're small, you can stand up, stand up tall!

Outro

Thumb-el - i - na, Thumb-el - i - na, be good in all you do. You'll find some - one who's just like you!
